TRUE-FALSE THEOLOGY GAME

Get your thinking-caps on, as this may put your knowledge of theology to the test.

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Attached are twenty true-false statements based on Scripture, listed in order as they appear in the Bible. Feel free to mix them up or write your own.
- Decide on the movement players will use to show that a statement is true or false. Examples:
  - ✧ Run to one side of the room if the statement is true. Run to the opposite side of the room if the statement is false.
  - ✧ Stand up if a statement is true. Sit down if a statement is false.
  - ✧ Thumbs up if a statement is true. Thumbs down if a statement is false.
- Have a caller read a question, giving time for players to move as decided. When everyone is in place. The caller reads the answer.
- If you want, keep score and award a prize for the most correct answers.
- Take the time after the game to read and discuss the passages given for at least the ones that were missed by players. *

* As an alternative to playing the game all at once, consider spreading the game out over 5-20 days, reading 1-4 statements each day and allowing time to read and discuss the passages for each.
